Introduction to Family Counseling

Welcome to counseling. We look forward to meeting with you and getting started. People and their situations are often very complex – your therapist will need to understand as much of the context as possible in order to help with a solution. The following paperwork (though extensive) is designed to give your therapist the context quickly. Please complete it and bring it to your initial appointment.

Thank you for completing these forms.

Sincerely,

New Growth Counseling Services

Informed Consent for Families with Minors (ages 17 and younger)

Your signature at the bottom of this page means that you understand and consent to the following policies and procedures:

Counseling is a collaborative process between therapist and patient(s) who work together on mutually agreed upon goals.

Participation is voluntary and is only effective when both patient(s) and therapist are actively striving for the patient's growth and change. Patients realize that participation in therapy can involve discussing issues that may be distressing – however, therapy is designed to help patients personally and in their relationships. When minors are involved, it may be necessary that parent(s)/guardian(s) participate in the counseling process with their child(ren) at the discretion of the therapist. Some problems may be best resolved with the participation of other family members or close relations.

Appointments are made in advance and start and end on time – a session lasts 50 minutes. If a patient is late, the session will still cost full price and end at the pre-arranged time. 24-hour advance notice is expected for cancellation or rescheduling. Any patient who fails to cancel, cancels at the “last minute,” or doesn't attend a regularly scheduled session will be held responsible for full payment of the missed session. Lateness, or cancellations made by the therapist will be rescheduled.

Emergencies: in the event of an emergency dial 911 or \(888\) 724-7240. The therapist will discuss emergencies with you and may provide emergency contact information at their discretion. As a rule, most telephone calls will be returned during normal business hours on weekdays.

Payment is expected at the time of service and will be collected at the beginning of the session. Any check that is returned for insufficient funds will be assessed a $25 fee.

Confidentiality is vital to trust - all sessions are confidential. This means the therapist will not discuss any aspect of the session or case with anyone outside of therapy without prior written consent of patient(s). It is important that a patient (especially children) has a confidential relationship with their therapist.

- Interns are pre-licensed counselors who are registered with the state of California and work under the clinical supervision of a licensed therapist. Interns are required to discuss and review cases with their supervisor as mandated by the professional and ethical codes of the profession – interns often use audio and video recording to do this.
- Secrets within relationships sometimes can be destructive or counter-productive to the goals of therapy. If a patient divulges such a secret to the therapist, the therapist will use his discretion about revealing it. Generally, the therapist will ask the patient to divulge the secret – if the therapist believes the secret is destructive or counter-productive to the counseling process, he may refuse to continue working with the patient until the patient reveals the secret. In cases of danger, the therapist may reveal the secret to maintain safety.

Limits of confidentiality: The following are exceptions to confidentiality and MUST BE REPORTED to the appropriate service and/or police. Please note – these reports are mandated by law and may be made without your consent or written permission.

1. If a client(s) become a danger to himself/herself, steps will be taken to keep the client safe.
2. If the client should become a danger to another identifiable person(s), the potential victim(s) will be warned and the police will be notified.
3. Any suspicion of child abuse (including physical, sexual, and/or emotional abuse as well as child neglect or endangerment) whether past or present, previously reported or not, will be reported.
4. Any abuse or neglect of an elder or dependent adult will be reported to Adult Protective Services.

I authorize New Growth Counseling Services staff / therapist to leave voice messages at my home or with a family member or friend regarding appointments, billing issues, or other pertinent information regarding my Behavioral Health Care.

Only parent(s) or legal guardian(s) can give authorization for the treatment of minors. If both parents have legal custody, both parents' signatures are required for treatment. If someone other than the parent(s) holds guardianship, legal documentation must be presented prior to authorizing treatment. If there are legal stipulations (a court order) that both parents must consent to ongoing treatment, I agree to contact the other parent and forward his/her consent for treatment to my child's therapist prior to treatment.

New Growth Counseling Services employees Marriage & Family Therapist (MFT) Registered Interns. Registered interns have received their Master's degree from an accredited program and are registered with the state of CA – they are bound by the laws and ethical guidelines that govern the profession. During their unlicensed period, they receive weekly supervision from a licensed therapist. The supervisor maintains your confidentiality at all times.

Videotapes are destroyed after review – all tapes stay in-house and remain locked and confidential at all times.

I/we understand that our counselor Mitzi Steele is an MFT registered intern with the state of California (registration IMF# 88087). I/we also understand that she will be working under the supervision of Jussi Light, CA Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist #39617. I/we may contact Jussi by calling the main number, 760-494-4394. I/we further understand that our counselor will discuss our case and share videotapes of sessions with Jussi.

Joint legal custody issues:

A registered intern at New Growth Counseling Services (NGCS hereafter) will be providing counseling to your child/children. In order to get started, the paperwork that follows needs to be completed by both parents who have joint legal custody of the children who are coming for counseling (your ex-spouse may visit the website and download the basic joint-legal custody forms – they should be returned to us as soon as possible).

When divorced parents share legal custody, they are usually entitled to be involved in the mental health care of their child. This does not mean that both parents will be involved in the counseling process – it just means that both parents consent and know that they are entitled to know about their child’s mental health progress if they so choose.

Joint legal custody is defined by the courts – typically, it applies to the two biological parents of a child (or children) who have divorced, and gives each parent the ability to make decisions on behalf of their child/children. The court decides who has legal custody and notes this on the divorce documentation. Legal custody is not the same as visitation, physical custody, or where the child resides.

When a divorce has occurred, contact between former spouses can result in tension. To limit this NGCS takes the following position and set the following boundaries:

1. When a couple divorces, they essentially create two separate families – the child belongs to both families, but each spouse is typically excluded from the other – this is the basic premise of a divorce.
2. NGCS is typically open to hearing from both parents, though this is not required. Both parent’s views on their child’s mental health and behavior is important information. The exceptions are extreme cases where NGCS may deem such communication unhelpful to the therapeutic process (e.g., the other parent is incarcerated, or is incapacitated due to chronic drug addiction).
3. NGCS works directly with the family that initiates the counseling process, because they are the family who has sought help for their situation. NGCS works indirectly with the other parent, if they want to be involved.
4. If both parents are “friendly with each other” it is occasionally possible and sometimes helpful to have meetings that may involve both parents – this is rare, but in some cases, when all parties agree, it can be helpful. It is not required, however, and is dependant solely on the situation presented.
5. If both parents are “not friendly with each other” and NGCS deems that they are incapable of working together, or that the direct involvement of both parents in counseling is detrimental, the NGCS will limit their work to the family that contacted NGCS for help. However, NGCS may remain open to communication with the other parent.
6. There are extreme situations in which NGCS would not be open to communications from the other parent who may have legal custody (child abuse, incest, violence, other forms of abuse or danger). This is a matter of state law which gives mental health professionals discretion as to limit-setting within family therapy.
